Throughout my fifty years in the practice of law, I have continually witnessed just how much the careless acts of others can so devastatingly change the lives of the victims and their families. That's why at Wolske & Associates, our goal is to obtain the best results possible for our clients, because their future well being and quality of life is our number one priority.

What kind of qualities do you look for when hiring a personal injury or medical malpractice attorney? Obviously, experience and reputation are very important. But what about those lawyers who claim to be aggressive, tough, and promise to fight for you? Nobody wants a "wimpy" lawyer to represent them, but competent legal representation requires more than just a "tough" lawyer who throws the book at the judge. A good lawyer is a great negotiator and communicator who understands the importance of doing what is best for his or her client.

At Wolske & Associates, we offer honest and sincere legal representation with the utmost integrity. If you or someone you know has been seriously or fatally injured as the result of a motor vehicle accident or medical malpractice, please consider us. We will discuss your case with you for free and you will be under no obligation to retain us. If you do decide to retain us, there are no legal fees unless we recover compensation for you through either a favorable settlement or verdict on your behalf. In most cases we advance all expenses and are only reimbursed upon the successful outcome of your case.

Our law firm is committed to helping those in need during the trying times that result from serious or fatal injuries caused by the careless acts of others. We greatly appreciate that our clients have chosen us, over hundreds of other law firms, to represent them. In gratitude, I offer my guarantee that at the law firm of Wolske & Associates, all of our clients will receive the finest personal and professional legal representation.

Every year, the lawyers at Wolske & Associates investigate hundreds of personal injury claims involving various types of medical malpractice, motor vehicle accidents and other negligently caused injuries or fatalities. In order to successfully represent their clients, the law firm must first obtain all relevant accident and medical records. These documents are carefully reviewed by the firm's staff and lawyers. Once the investigation process is complete, the firm will recommend an appropriate course of action.

MEDICAL MALPRACTICE

Medical malpractice is when a patient is injured due to an act or omission by a physician or health care professional who deviates from accepted standards of practice in the medical community. Medical malpractice cases are in general, extremely complex and usually involve very serious injuries or fatality. In some cases, there may not be an immediate or obvious cause and effect. Thanks to the Internet, information about medical malpractice has become more readily available to the general public. Unfortunately, there is no guarantee that such information is accurate and unbiased, and therefore, much of it can be unreliable. The only credible way to know whether you or a loved one has been a victim of malpractice is to consult a highly qualified lawyer. The lawyers at Wolske & Associates will obtain copies of all of your hospital and physician records. They will have those records thoroughly examined by one or several highly trained and respected medical experts. A claim will only be filed if a strong case for medical negligence has been validated by expert medical opinions. Ohio law mandates that medical malpractice claims must be filed within one year of the time an error was discovered, or should have been discovered, or one year from the termination of the doctor patient relationship, whichever occurs later. The life altering effects of a medical mistake can be devastating, especially when the outcome requires long term care for disabilities. The experienced lawyers at Wolske & Associates have helped people recover compensation for a wide range of injuries sustained as a result of medical malpractice. They can help you too.

MOTOR VEHICLE ACCIDENTS

Unfortunately, serious accidents involving automobiles, trucks and motorcycles are more frequent than ever before. Intoxication, cell phone use and other distractions have made these cases a leading cause of personal injury litigation. Injured victims incur medical bills, lost wages, pain, suffering and emotional distress. Fatalities can cause family members to suffer economic loss, life adjustments and mental anguish. Seriously disabled victims and their families face a lifetime of on-going care and numerous other problems. Insurance company inquiries, phone calls, paper work and medical bills can quickly become overwhelming for accident victims. Plus, emotional stress and mental anguish can make decision making a very difficult task. Do not let anyone, whether an insurance adjuster, investigator or lawyer, pressure you for information or to accept a cash settlement. If you or someone you know is in a serious accident as the result of another person's mistake, call the experienced lawyers at Wolske & Associates as soon as possible. They will help you get the compensation you deserve and give you the peace of mind you will need during these trying times.

BIRTH INJURIES

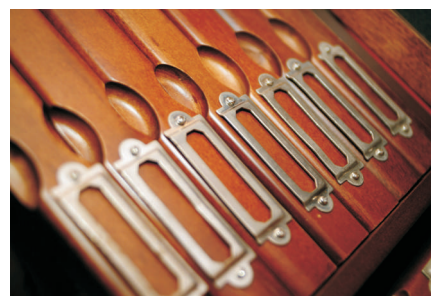

A birth injury is legally defined as any serious injury that a child suffers just before, during, or shortly after birth. It is estimated that 30,000 birth injuries occur each year in the United States. Many of these injuries are the result of medical malpractice. In these situations, parents are often unaware that their child's injuries could have been prevented. If you suspect that your child has been the victim of a birth injury at a hospital, the attorneys at Wolske & Associates can help. They will thoroughly investigate the facts, advise you as to whether the medical professionals who aided in the birth of your child were negligent, and represent you in a claim to recover damages.

NURSING HOME NEGLIGENCE

Among other rights, nursing home residents can expect to live in a safe and clean environment; to be free from physical, verbal or mental abuse; to receive adequate and appropriate medical treatment; and to be free from chemical or physical restraints or prolonged isolation. The most common injuries to nursing home residents include pressure sores, malnutrition and dehydration, falls, elopement and medication errors. If one of your family members has had his or her rights violated by a rest home, the lawyers at Wolske & Associates can help.
